Shepard slashed in Toft budget cut

by GLORIA DAVIS

It looks like Mayor Ray Toft has started, not only emulating President Reagan, but is implementing his campaign promise to cut spending in Antioch.

The first sign of serious budget cutting in the new Toft administration came last week when Walt Shepard's job as superintendent of public works was eliminated.

Shepard, who is on 30 days notice, was appointed to that job in 1974 by Bob Wilton and continued in the same capacity under Mike Haley.

With the job soon to be non-existent, no one will be appointed to take Shepard's place, said Toft.

According to the mayor, "I don't think that Antioch needs a superintendent of public works. This has just saved the village the $28,000 annual salary that was being paid to Shepard."

Toft added that actually more than that salary has been cut from the budget, since Shepard had been slated for a raise in the area of $2,000 per annum.

The Haley administration had planned an eight to 10 percent salary increase for municipal employees in the upcoming budget, but under Ray Toft it will be a different story.

The new budget, expected to be completed by the first board meeting in July, is slated to give, at the most, approximately a six percent increase to those working for the village.

The raises will vary slightly, according to department policy, with department heads getting flat salary increases, none exceeding $1,000.

Chamber not finished as village board okays K-Mart complex bonds

"We're not letting this go down that easy," said Antioch Chamber of Commerce President Mark McKinney, in reference to the fact that the Antioch Village Board has agreed to agree to the issuance of industrial revenue bonds for the proposed K-Mart shopping complex.

McKinney said that Developer Dennis Gershenson has left a lot of important questions unanswered, stressing the one on what amount of the business slated to be brought in by the complex will be new business?

"The village board also didn't do their homework," said McKinney, adding, "They can't go any place but the village of Antioch and they want to locate in this area."

He then eliminated south of the village because of its closeness to the K-Mart in Round Lake. And he added that not only will neither of the grocery stores the developer is negotiating with, go over the state line into Wisconsin, but add to that the cost of digging a large well where there is no city water, and it would be prohibitive.

"A complex of the proposed size must have city services," says McKinney.

McKinney also referred to the fact that Gershenson has never put his cards on the table as to whether or not the complex would be brought in without the bonds.

In essence, he is saying that the village board is giving the developer something that they do not have to give, in order that the complex locate in the village, underlining that they will locate in Antioch, with or without the bonds.

Marine Honor Graduate proud to be 'Leatherneck'

by GLORIA DAVIS

With Antioch and its surrounding area smack in the middle of a county that is rated among the highest in unemployment, many ter of survival.

Not so with Antioch High School 1979 graduate David Volling who is being addressed these days as Marine Private First Class Volling.

Volling just completed his basic training at Parris Island, S. C., and at graduation was awarded the distinguished honor of being named the honor graduate of his platoon.

Having scored highly in the language aptitude tests, Volling has been assigned to Defense Language School, Monterey, Ga., where he will be learning to speak Russian. His sights are set on possible embassy duty, maybe in Moscow as a cryptological translator.

What made this lanky young man, who just a short time ago was enjoying campus life, decide to take on the rigors of the Marine Corps in a time when patriotism does not head most young people's popularity poll, the majority finding the loss of the draft a reason of the local young adults, with no jobs available, find their plans for the future in limbo.

Some, as an alternative, are staying in college and taking courses that lead nowhere, since they don't know where they are going. Others are forced to take available jobs offering little future as a mat-

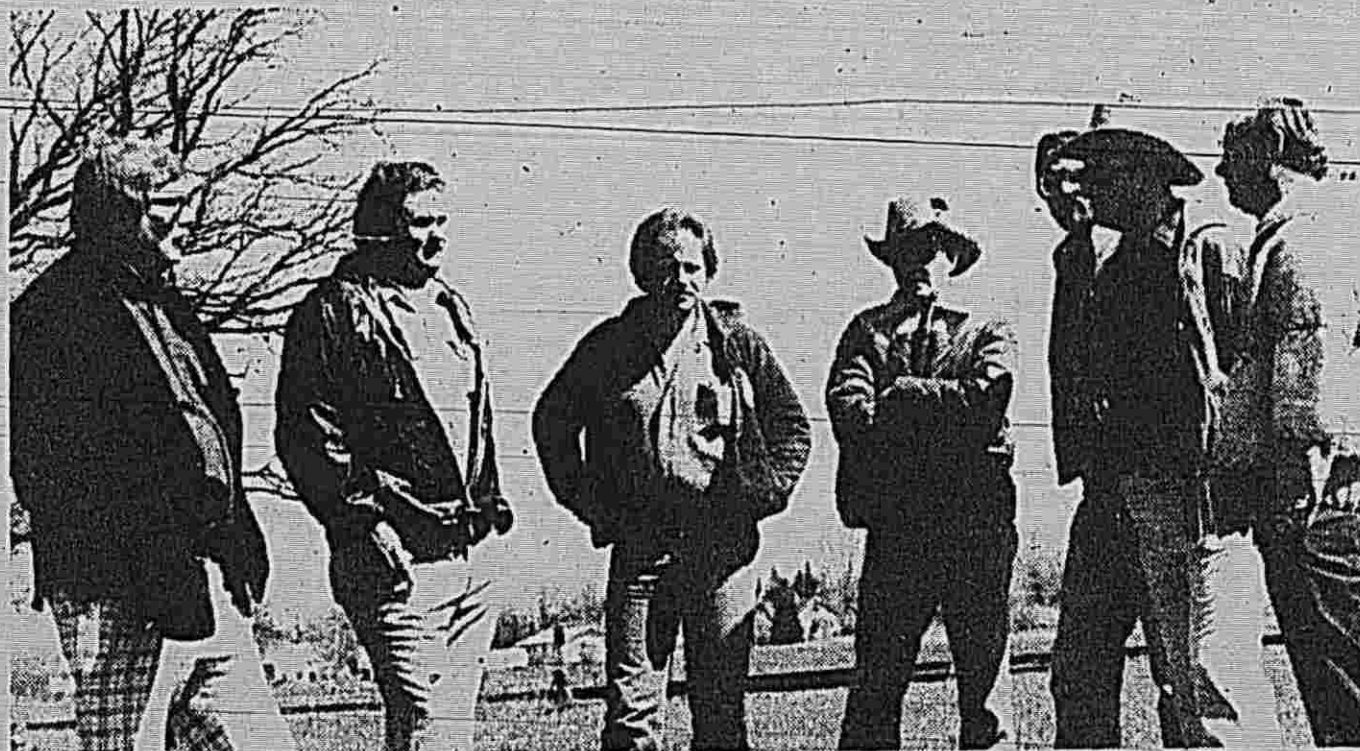

New Jewel is proposed for Antioch

It looks like Antioch may be slated for a new Jewel Food Store, and whether or not it will be the one slated for the proposed K-Mart shopping complex, is still to be seen.

Mayor Ray Toft said that he has talked with representatives of Jewel Foods and they have expressed a desire to open a bigger and better store than the one now located on Lake St.

"They say that they are looking at two other locations in the village besides the one in the complex, but as of this time have not committed themselves to any specific one," says Toft.

Jewel has promised the village that they do not intend to leave the present building, which they own on Lake St., vacant, saying that a primary store will be located there when the grocery store vacates.

Good news in The News

Road Race

The Antioch Road Race, sponsored by the Parks Program, will take place Saturday, June 27. Contact the Antioch Parks Dept. for entry information.

Fire department dance

One of Antioch's favorite social gatherings, the fire department's dance, will be held on Saturday, June 27.

This is where you are apt to see everyone in Antioch that you haven't seen all year and will be able to dance to the sound of live "big band" music.

Outside service

St. Stephen Lutheran Church, Rte. 59 and Hillside Ave., has scheduled an outdoor worship service for 9:30 a.m., June 28.

There will be no 8 or 10 a.m. services on that day.

Immediately following the service will be the congregational potluck picnic, complete with games for the entire family.

July 4 hours

After taking a survey of the merchants, the Chamber has announced that on Saturday, July 4, because of the festivities at Williams Park, most of the stores will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The Chamber suggests that being open will be of benefit to both the merchants and the residents.

Miss Antioch Deadline

With June 26 set as the final deadline for entries for the Miss Antioch Contest, the pageant will take place at 7 p.m., at the Antioch Aqua Center, following the Fourth of July activities.

Various forms of entertainment will be shown on the Fourth, including a water show and Barb Davis singing and playing her guitar.

The highlight of the evening will be the hour-long fireworks display.

Plans for the shopping center, featuring a K-Mart store, that has been proposed for the north side of the village of Antioch on Hwy. 83, moved a step forward at a meeting of the Antioch Village Board, Monday, June 15.

The entire village board, except for Trustee William Seemann, voted to accept the memorandum of agreement that says that the village board will see that industrial revenue bonds, up to $10 million, will be issued to subsidize the $5 million complex.

The developers, Ramco-Gershenson, must come up with buyers for the bonds.

Those present at the meeting seemed to be half for and half against the issuance of the bonds to bring the complex to the village, merchants against and many of the residents calling for the advent of K-Mart.

The meeting was a crowded one, with downtown merchants still objecting to subsidizing "the nation's number two retailer," reiterating that this might allow them to undercut the prices of the established businesses.

"No one financed us," was a repeated familiar objection from the present Antioch retailers.

Gershenson pointed out that the bonds would be issued to the developer, not to K-Mart.

Former Village Atty. Andrew Lynch spoke against the subsidizing.

Seemann, the only one on the board who cast a negative vote, said that he had found that the people he had talked to fell into three groups: those who felt that they had been had by the present merchants and had no sympathy for them; those that wanted the complex to come in but without the revenue bond subsidization; those that did not want the complex but if it was inevitable, nixed the use of revenue bonds.

Trustee Claudette Skvarce said that most people she had talked to were in favor of the complex and Trustee Ron Cunningham said that he did not like the use of the bonds, but favored the bonds rather than have the complex go elsewhere.

Mike Warren, real estate agent that has been negotiating the purchase of the 14-and-a-half acres that are held in a partial trust, said that construction financing was different than it had been two years ago and it was now necessary to find different methods to finance businesses.

to celebrate?

Volling says it was because he was heading in no particular direction in college, so he dropped out and investigated the military services.

Why the Marines instead of the Navy or the Army?

"I decided to accept their challenge," he says, pointing out the Marine recruiting dare, "Maybe you can be one of us."

Volling says that his parents, Gordon and Kathleen Volling, neither tried to encourage or discourage him when he announced his intention to be a "Leatherneck."

"They said it was my decision and just wanted me to be sure I knew what I was doing."

In talking about the highly touted strictness of Marine basic training, he said that the physical part of it was not as hard as he had expected it to be, in the light of many stories he had heard.

"The mental stress was much worse," he said, reporting that only half of those he started with were standing at attention on graduation day.

Home now on leave, the Marine private, who may spend a little time helping the recruiter in Libertyville, is vociferous on the opportunities and benefits offered by the corps saying, "The pay is decent, considering that I don't have to pay anything for food and housing and can buy most things cheaper at a post exchange than civilians can."

Having Uncle Sam take care of the bulk of the cost of your education or training you in a skill that can be used when you get out of the service, is a big plus, according to Volling.

He hopes that getting his college degree and maybe entrance in an officers' training program will both be in his future.

Naturally the travel opportunities are uppermost in his mind and what better way to go than on the government's expenses account?

Public hearing set for full-time offices

The need for a full-time mayor or business administrator was a red-hot issue during Antioch's recent political campaign and may have been one of the principle reasons that Mike Haley, who was a proponent of the first viewpoint, lost that election.

Haley did appoint a committee to investigate both of these needs and that committee has been doing its homework.

Ed Thamerus, committee chairman, has announced that, after talking to administrators and mayors from other municipalities, Antioch's budget would allow the payment of the salary of either.

The committee is now to the point of finding out if the residents of the village of Antioch want either one.

A public meeting to get input on the subject from the citizens of Antioch is slated for 7:30 p.m., Thursday, June 25, at the Old Fire House.

It won't be until after adding this input to their findings, that the committee will make an advisory recommendation to the village board.

Any action taken on this recommendation would not effect the office of mayor until after the next election, in 1985, but the present board could hire a part or full-time business administrator at anytime, if it chose to do so.

The going cost of a full-time business administrator is $25,000 to $35,000 and the previous board had been asking $28,000 for the salary of a full-time mayor.

Carole: 'Firemen deserve village's support at dance!'

By CAROLE RISK

The Antioch Firefighters Assn. is having its annual firehouse dance on June 27. The association serves both the village and the township. The Antioch Fire Dept., having the only suggested tax revenue cut that was rejected but the voters in the April elections, received the public's acknowledgement of their importance to the community.

The department consists of 53 volunteer firemen who, except for those who are on the inactive list are ready to respond to fire call. The fire department has three pumps, two tankers that carry water, two trucks for fighting brush fires; one van that carries equipment; a fireboat; a divers van and a 1932 antique fire truck that is used for parades.

The firemen receive $4 for every fire that they work to put out. There were approximately 400 fires in the Antioch fire district handled by these volunteers last year.

Without a doubt, there is a great contribution of effort and time by the firefighters to the Antioch area in providing such invaluable service to all that need them at a bargain price.

The fire departments annual dance is their big fund raiser and people of the Antioch area should wholeheartedly support them by buying tickets, whether they plan to attend or not. It's a worthy cause.

Try to go, you will have a great time!

There will be an open bar, sandwiches will be served, and there will be music for listening or dancing, and you will have a chance to get reacquainted with everybody.

Once again, a reminder about the survey that Regional Planning Commission is conducting among residents of Channel Lake and Lake Catherine. There are $3 million dollars that these areas have first priority on.

This money is available only if 51 percent of the survey cards are returned. If you have lost yours, pick up a replacement at Antioch Township Hall.

These funds can be used to improve homes, roads property etc. This could be very important to unincorporated areas with a high concentration of senior citizens.

So, residents of Lake Catherine and Channel Lake get those survey cards in the mail, this money could be a big help for you.

After checking around a little, it was discovered that although the RTA tax is not going to be lifted, as a matter of fact it might be increased, Antioch, at this point, is not going to be included on any public transportation route, and the Antioch area's train commuters are going to face huge increases in the cost of their monthly passes.

If you want to complain call Betty Lou Reed 945-9260 and Don Deuster 566-8371, state representatives for this area, they both voted not to help our transportation systems with any state aid.

The most commonly heard argument against mass transportation comes from the individual motorist who states that he doesn't want his sales tax revenue spent on something that he doesn't use, but the train commuters and bus users still have their dollars taxed to help maintain the roads for the motorist.

What would happen if everyone in the state that cannot drive, for one reason or another, said the heck with the roads, "I don't use them?"

Antioch needs support for both types of transportation, and Reed and Duester should be representing our interests, and not, it is hoped, be representing their parties current policy at the Antioch area's sacrifice.

IRB outcome in limbo

The debate surrounding proposals for the Village of Antioch to issue Industrial Revenue Bonds to help real estate developers bring a shopping center to town turned into one of the biggest controversies in a long time. In scope and significance, IRB proposition outweighed the question of a full-time mayor with commensurate salary.

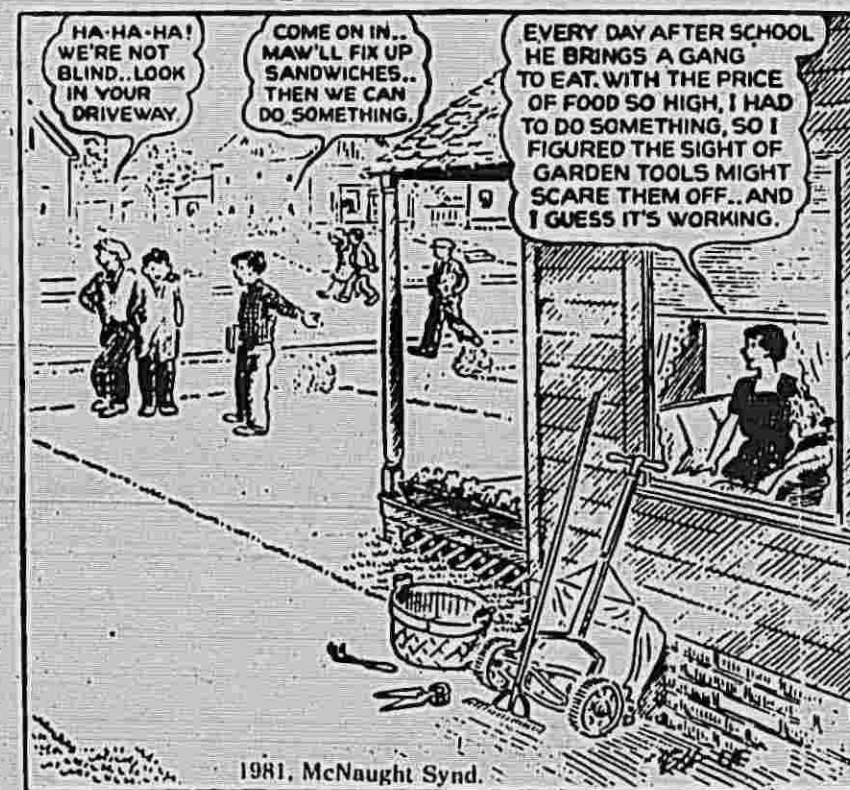

One thing the IRB question did was provide a good opportunity for a great deal of soul searching. As we indicated not long ago, Antioch has looked into the mirror. One thing seen was less loyalty to local merchants than was previously thought. A surprisingly large number of citizens view the advent of another shopping center as welcome competition and needed additional services. The look into the mirror showed flagging retail sales and a corresponding drop in retail sales tax revenue at a time when the village coffers need additional income. The look also showed a soft side of Antioch's long standing position as a retail shopping hub.

Our sympathies lie with those who expressed concern that major chain stores that will be the beneficiaries of the IRB's and their special advantages should be able to stand on their own feet, and that utilization of IRB financing gives them an unfair advantage. By definition, Industrial Revenue Bonds are to help promote industrial development. It could come to pass that the action in Antioch approving IRB financing for a shopping center will bring about the eventual demise of this type of bonding as a growing number of influential citizens are advocating.

In the final analysis, members of the Antioch village board charged with making a decision, "counted votes." They assessed the feelings of the people and public opinion decidedly was on the side of using IRB financing to pave the way for a commercial development on the north side of Antioch.

Driver charged with death of 2 girls

At 2:20 a.m., Sunday, June 21, an accident at the intersection of Rte. 83 and Rte. 173, allegedly caused by an intoxicated minor stationed at Great Lakes, took the lives of two teenage girls.

According to Antioch Police Chief Chuck Miller, witnesses reported that a northbound car driven by Rodney C. Lackie, 19, Great Lakes, ran the red light at the intersection, at a high rate of speed and crashed into a car eastbound on Rte. 173, driven by Kenneth Meyer, 18, Glencoe.

Both injured drivers were taken to Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan, by the Antioch Rescue Squad.

A passenger in Meyer's car, Ann Briery, 18, Glencoe, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident and another passenger in that car, Lilach Shazar, 17, Wilmette, died later at Victory Memorial Hospital.

Lackie, whose bond hearing was set for Monday, June 22, has been charged with two counts of reckless homicide, a minor's possession of alcohol, driving while intoxicated, failure to stop at a red light, open intoxicants in a vehicle, failure to yield right of way and failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

NUCLEAR ENERGY

Nuclear energy last week supplied an all-time record high 62.1 percent of the electricity Commonwealth Edison generated for its 2.9 million customers in Chicago and northern Illinois. If the same amount of electricity had been generated by coal, the company's other principal fuel, its customers would have had to pay an additional $15 million in fuel costs.

First aid instruction goes to Troop 92

Members of the Antioch Rescue Squad volunteered three Tuesday evenings to instruct Troop 92 Boy Scouts of America in first aid techniques.

At the rescue squad's training area, the boys learned how to administer first aid for problems involving breathing, bleeding, poisoning, burns, broken bones, cuts, shock, and back injuries.

The boys were also shown the equipment contained in rescue squad vehicles.

The scouts and their parents are most grateful to the Antioch Rescue Squad for their time and their professional instruction.

Winning tickets for Troop 92's Annual Meat Raffle were drawn at the monthly committee meeting.

First place winner Pete Raith of Bristol, will receive a hind quarter of beef; second place winner Mrs. A. Danecke of Ingleside, a fore quarter of beef; and third place winner J. Pacheco of Lake Villa, a ham.

The scouts who sold the most tickets also received prizes. John Naughton was the top ticket seller, followed by Dale Gade. Mark Aschbacher, Brian Clark, and Rich Jashob tied for third place.

Brian Clark, Dale Gade, Phil Hettich, and Frank Zeien attended the Patrol Leadership Development weekend at the Lakewood Forest Preserve.

Following the game, a banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m., at the Windjammer Restaurant.

tioch; Cedar Village; D.J.'s Health and Fitness; — 50; the Windjammer; — 50 and the Village Hall.

Banquet tickets are $7.50 and are available at the Antioch Township Office.

Maras & Ploss will be among the United States players who will travel to Taipei, Taiwan, Republic of China for a tournament running August 10-27.

The Amateur Sports Fellowship ASF, has agreed to participate in the largest International Junior Basketball Exchange Program ever!

This two part program will begin here in Chicago in late June, and will end in late August, in the Republic of China.

The ASF has contracted to be the sole Chicago representative for International Junior Basketball because the ASF is the largest and most experienced Junior Olympic Basketball Program in the United States.

On Sunday, June 28, at Antioch High School at 2:30 p.m. the ASF Girls will play the Chicago Dragon Athletic Club and at 4 p.m. the ASF Boys will play the Chinese National Jr. Team.

Fool's Players comes to Antioch with 'Pirates'

This summer will mark the beginning of a regional repertory company in the northwestern corner of Lake County.

The Fool's Players of Antioch, will open its three show season with the current Broadway hit revival, "The Pirates of Penzance," July 10, 11, 17, and 18.

"Vanities" will immediately follow with performances on July 24, 25, 31 and August 1.

Finishing the season off will be Feydeau's farce, "A Flea in Her Ear" to be performed August 7, 8, 14, and 15.

All performances will begin at 8 p.m. at the Antioch High School Auditorium which is close to the northeast corner of Rtes. 173 and 83.

Approximately five years ago, Ken Smouse, artistic director and producer of the Fool's Players, opened with a production of "Jesus Christ Superstar."

During the past five years, the group has done numerous productions which toured the Lake and Cook County areas.

The group was formed in response to a book by Harvey Cox called The Feast of Fools.

The book claimed that people had lost their ability to celebrate.

The company's purpose, therefore, is to treat every production as a celebration, of life and of people.

Ken Smouse is a familiar face in Lake County theatre circles having begun his professional career in 1951 at the San Diego Starlight Opera.

His move to Antioch in 1956 marked the beginning of his teaching career in theatre at Antioch High School.

By 1960, he founded Antioch's community theatre group PM&L.

The Fool's Players consists mainly of local talent from Lake County and guest artists, such as Joan Kusher, who has studied music at the Chicago Conservatory and in Europe. She will be performing in and vocal coach for "The Pirates of Penzance."

Future plans for The Fool's Players include their continuing sponsorship of Handel's "Messiah" and Amahl and The Night Visitors for area churches, but the stress will now be placed on the annual summer repertory productions.

Individual tickets are $6 for adults and $4 for Senior citizens and students.

Subscription rates are also available. For ticket information and reservations, call 395-1333.

MAYOR TO SPEAK

When I think about it Would like to give some unsparable piece of mind

by GLORIA DAVIS

In this age of telepathy and extrasensory perception, when physics' predictions often come true, I've been saved many an embarrassing moment because certain people I have been dealing with have none of these talents.

On the other hand, I've also often experienced times when only my polite upbringing and the fact that, down deep, I'm really a little gutless, have kept me from chopping my mind up like a birthday cake and handing it out, piece by piece; to those whom I find particularly irritating.

You know the type I'm sure. We've all come across them. For instance, I always wanted to tell all those doting aunts that I hadn't really "grown so," my clothes had just shrunk.

Then there was the sainted nun who taught my biology classes back in the 50s. For a person who was supposed to teach us about the human reproductive organs, she was seemingly ashamed of the entire process.

I remember wanting to shout aloud in class, "Who cares if pearls reflect down and patent leather shoes and puddles reflect up! Any-boy who was seduced by those fast flashes needed it."

Haven't you always wanted to tell overzealous saleswomen who try to follow you into the dressing-room that the last salesperson who saw you in your underwear was struck blind?

And to those mothers that foolishly say in public, "My child would never do that," may I say, "Don't ever say never when unpredictable children are involved, for tomorrow you may be wearing egg on your face instead of using it for a shampoo."

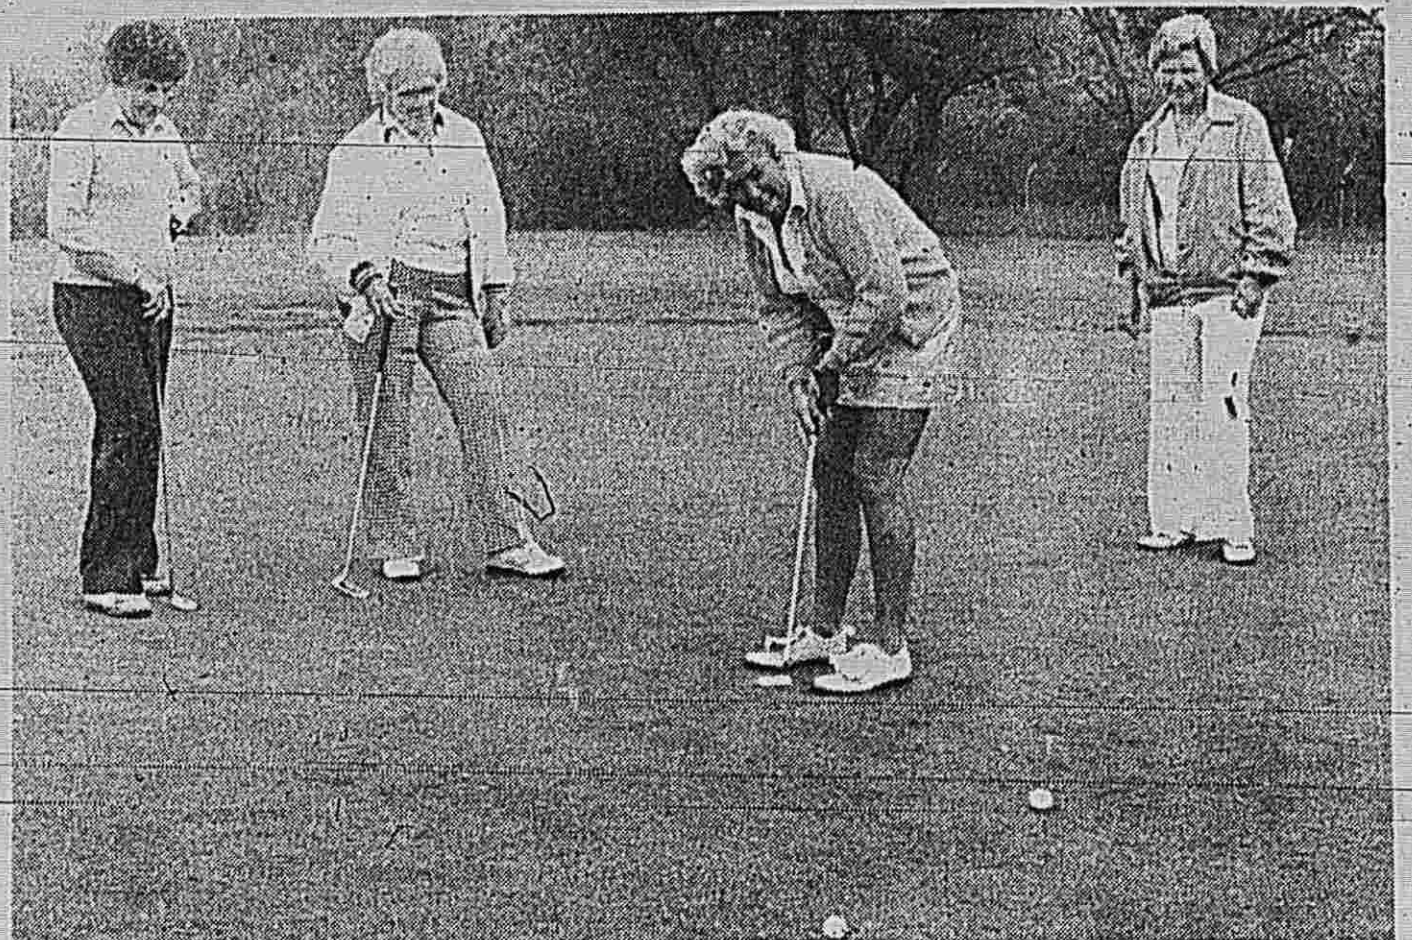

I always have wanted to tell those dumb girls, who daily discuss feminine hygiene at parties in that stupid tv commercial, "Whatever happened to the nasty old powder-room conversation that merely attempted to invade the intimacy of the bedroom?" I think I prefer that to this invasion of the bathroom's privacy.

To every tall, tan, thin, long legged blond, I've always wanted to say, "May you all fall madly in love with a very short fat man."

After all the rest of us deserve some of the frosting of life.

The next time I meet one of my friends, who is a real story book homemaker, I'm going to tell her that I hear that the new room deodorizer, that smells like burnt quiche, is a must for her kitchen. At least it'll make people realize that she's human!

A woman's place

HITCHON HAS MOST PUTTS — Loraine Hitchon is shown having a bad day putting last Tuesday at Harbor Ridge Country Club, but was pleasantly surprised when she found out the special events prize of the day for the State Bank of Antioch Women's Golf League was for the most putts. Eileen Zannini (far left) watches her partner along with Dorothy Teister (left) and Trudy Anderson (right).

Recives Degree

Joanna Vasek, 617 Phillips Circle, Antioch was one of 446 seniors to receive a bachelor's degree at the 116th commencement of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa.

Birth

MARY VOIGHT

A daughter, Mary Voight, was born June 5, at McHenry Hospital to Lee and Mary Voight, Spring Grove. The baby weighed 8 pounds, 4 ounces. Maternal grandparents are Ralph and Marilyn Dowell of Antioch and paternal grandparents are David and Leane Harris of Bristol.

Most putts win

Much to the surprise of the ladies of the State Bank of Antioch Women's Golf League, poor putting was awarded with a prize! The "dubious winners," June 16, at Harbor Ridge Country Club, were Joan Casey, class A; Lorriane Hitchon, class B; Lorriane Stieber, class C; and June Bentel, class D.

Team 9, Eileen Zannini, Lorriane Hitchon, Ann St.

Pierre, and Lorriane Santi, now holds first place, and Team 10, Trudy Anderson, Dorothy Teister, Jean Karas, and Ginny Troeger, moved into second place.

Next week the special events prizes will be for the funniest golf hat — So if you're out golfing early Tuesday morning, June 23, at Harbor Ridge Country Club, look out for those zany State Bank ladies.
